

The Principle of Honesty

“Hello, I am The Principle of Honesty.

“People say that I am the reminder they need to remain truthful in all that they say and do.

“There will be times in your life when you may feel it is difficult to be honest and tell the truth. You may be afraid of getting into trouble, or you may be worried about what others may think of you when you tell the truth.

“My parents told me that honesty is the best policy, and that is why they named me Honesty.

“Please call on me when you need the strength to be Honest. I can help remind you about how important it is to tell the truth.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please, count on me to help you be Honest.”

The Principle of Teamwork

“Hello, I am The Principle of Teamwork

“People say that I am the reminder they need to work together to accomplish great things.

“People also say that I help them feel good about themselves when they are a part of a team—something bigger than themselves.

“It is normal that sometimes in life we can feel lonely. But, when we all come together as a team, we can help each other out during the tough times in life.

“I like to see people work together as a team in sports and at work. However, my favorite teams are the families at home coming together to help and care for each other.

“My parents told me that there is no ‘I’ in team, and that people do their best when they are working together as part of a team to accomplish a goal.

“Please call on me when you need some encouragement to be a team player. I can help remind you about how wonderful it is to be a part of a group—something greater than yourself.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please count on me to help you be a great team player.”

The Principle of Sacrifice

“Hello, I am The Principle of Sacrifice.

“People say that I am the reminder about how life is not always easy and that we need to be prepared to make difficult choices today to make sure things are better tomorrow.

“People also say that I remind them to think about others instead of themselves. Putting the needs of our family and friends ahead of our own help to make our relationships stronger.

“I had a basketball coach once tell me, ‘No Pain, No Gain.’ He meant that without hard work and a little bit of pain, there was no way someone could expect to win in a big game. He said because I worked super hard in practice, he knew I would do well in the games. That is why he gave me the nickname Sacrifice. People have been calling me Sacrifice ever since.

“I am now serving our country in the Army. I have seen a lot of people make sacrifices for the country. The sacrifices I learned to make as a young kid helped me to make even bigger sacrifices as I grew older.

“Please call on me when you need some encouragement to make a difficult choice today, so that you or someone else can have a better tomorrow.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please, count on me to help you make a sacrifice today.”

The Principle of Courage

“Hello, I am The Principle of Courage.

“People say that I am the reminder they need to be brave when they feel worried and afraid.

“There will be times in your life when you are afraid. We all get afraid.

“I will help you to be brave and strong when you are afraid.

“You are stronger than your fears, and I will help remind you of your strength.

“My parents told me that even though I am small, I have the strength to face giants and overcome my fears. That is why they named me Courage.

“Please call on me when you need help to face your fears. I can help remind you of your strength.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please, count on me to help you be courageous.”

The Principle of Compassion

“Hello, I am The Principle of Compassion.

“People say that I am the reminder they need to reach out to help people in need.

“Many people in our world are struggling and need some help. Also, our family and friends sometimes experience difficult times; and they need to know we care about them.

“I will help you to reach out to others who need to be comforted.

“My parents told me that showing compassion to others by helping them when they are struggling is the best thing we can do. They named me Compassion as a reminder to our family to help others.

“Please call on me when you need to care for others. I can help remind you of how wonderful it is to help others in need.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please, count on me to help you show compassion to others.”

The Principle of Hope

“Hello, I am The Principle of Hope.

“People say I am the reminder they need to keep believing in their dreams even when they are unsure of what tomorrow will bring.

“People also say that I am the helpful hand that pulls them out of a struggle.

“There will be times in your life when you struggle to accomplish your goals. I will help give you strength to believe in yourself, so you can keep making progress toward your goals.

“My parents told me that when they were young and newly married, all they had was Hope; and that is why they named me Hope.

“Please call on me when you need a ‘light’ to get through a dark struggle. I will help remind you that you can achieve your dreams no matter how difficult today may seem.

“I will be there to support and encourage you—no matter what situations you experience in life.

“Please, count on me to help you have Hope when you are struggling.”

Learn more about The Principles of Our World and buy your copies today at:

harvesttimepartners.com/childrens-books

The Principle of Honesty

“People say that I am the reminder they need to remain truthful in all that they say and do.”

The Principle of Teamwork

“People say that I am the reminder they need to work together to accomplish great things.”

The Principle of Sacrifice

“People say that I am the reminder they need to think about others instead of themselves.”

The Principle of Courage

“People say that I am the reminder they need to be brave when they feel worried and afraid.”

The Principle of Compassion

“People say that I am the reminder they need to reach out to help people in need.”